Speaking politely

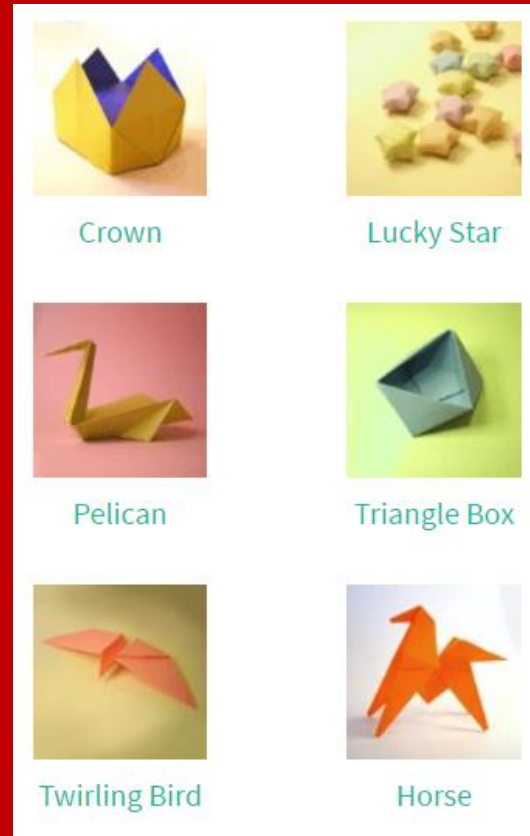

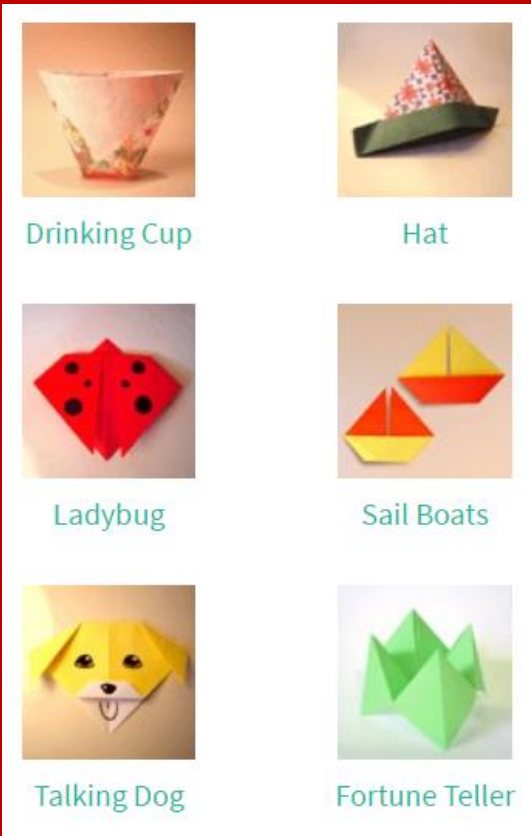

It is always great to receive a letter, so this week why not write to a family member or friend that you are not getting to see at the moment. They may even send you one back!

Having respect

This week find a way of showing your family respect by helping out at home. This should be something extra on top of what you already do to help.

- Stack the dishwasher
- Cook dinner
- Clean the car
- Mow the lawn
- Clean the bathroom
- Do some washing
- Make everyone a drink once a day

What is a Guinness World Records title?

Each record title must fulfil all of the following criteria. They must be:

- Measurable – Can it be measured objectively? What is the unit of measurement? We do not accept applications based on subjective variables. For example - beauty, kindness, loyalty.
- Breakable – Can the record be broken? Our record titles must be open to being challenged.
- Standardisable – Can the record be repeated by someone else? Is it possible to create a set of parameters and conditions that all challengers can follow?
- Verifiable – Can the claim be proven? Will there be accurate evidence available to prove it occurred?
- Based on one variable – Is the record based on one superlative and measured in one unit of measurement?
- The best in the world – Has anyone else done better? If your record suggestion is new then Guinness World Records will set a challenging minimum requirement for you to beat.

Never saying
Never

Do you want to be a record breaker?

- Why not use this time in lockdown to break a world record.
- Develop your skills of resilience and perseverance.
